THE FRENCH. [Special Dispatch to the Press.] WASHINGTON, March 27 .- The report of Mr. J. W. Campbell, Assistant Commissioner to the Paris Exposition, to whom was assigned the special duty of preparing a report on the horticultural display, has executed that duty, and his interesting paper is now on file in the State Department. Mr. Campbell gives some account of the method by which the sewage of Parls is made to enrich the surrounding gardens. It was claimed that draining the sewage into the Scine was injurious. The experiments were made on a very poor tract of land in the engineer of bridges and causeways of Paris, and the patronage of the city. The plain comprises 3,300 acres. The distribution of the sewage is at the expense of the Govern bend in the Seine, near Assoiers, called the of the sewage is at the expense of the Government, and furnished gratuitously. The light supply. There is no assortment of dark sundistribution is made from elevated reser-After overcoming the opposition of the proprietors the Government established a model garden which was a great success, and rents went up from nil to 300 and 500 franes an acre. Here follows a summary of the report of M. Schloesing, of the Government commission of 1876, on this subject.

The production was five times greater from irrigated than from non-irrigated lands in the same locality. Here follows a statement showing the productiveness of the previously sterile Gennevillier's fields. Action 1876. ously sterile Gennevillier's fields: Artichokes, 80,000 heads; potatoes, 40,000 kilogs; onions, 80,000 kilogs; cauliflowers, 30,-000 heads; celery, 100,000 kilogs. A kilogram is about 2½ pounds, avoirdupois. Mr. Campbell then describes his visit to the model garden (Jardin Modele) at Gennevilliers, which, he says, even exceeded the most flattering accounts which be had heard of its phenomenal success. The report of Mr. Campbell is intensely interesting from beginning to end, both on account of the maturity of its conclusions and the value of its facts and figures. The horticulturists of the United States will find it of great service as conveying in comprehensive form all the most interesting features of the progress of the horticultural art of the day.

MADAME BONAPARTE'S ILLNESS .- The condition of Madame Bonaparte for the last few days has been critical in the extreme, and her death is looked for at any moment. On Saturday evening she rallied somewhat, and all day Sunday and yesterday was in a slightly improved condition. Last night she was no better or worse, and her death is looked for at any time. Her grandson, Jerome, who arrived some days ago, is in constant attendance, but she is too ill to take much notice of him. Her right side is somewhat paralyzed, and at times she religiously substituted in the extreme, and her death is looked for at any moment. On Saturday evening she rallied somewhat, and all day Sunday and yesterday was in a slightly improved condition. She sank rapidly during the afternoon, but rallied somewhat later. Her physician states that she has been dying since Thursday last, but that her indomitable will bas kept her alive thus far. She has no discase nor suffering, but is dying of senile decay.

AGED THREE YEARS AND A CENTURY .-Norwich, Con., March 31 .- Mrs. Mary Goodale died yesterday at Pequonoc Bridge, aged one hundred and three years, nine months and eight days. She was born in Groton. Her first husband, named Hewlett, was killed on board of a man-of-war during the war of 1812, and her second husband died many years ago. She has been cared for since by her grandchildren.

P. G. M. Latrobe and P. D. G. M. Francis Burns, of the Masons of Maryland, had jewels presented to them Monday night. The latter is eighty-seven years old, and was D. G. M. for thirteen years. The for-mer was unanimously elected G. M. eight times, or for eight years. He cleared the temple of debt. Fine speeches were made on the occasion.

A colored voter in Mobile had been employed by a merchant to take some kerosene oil to the Mobile and Ohio Railroad depot for shipment. He informed the gentleman who employed him that he was going to vote the Democratic ticket; wouldn't think of voting any other. On his return from the depôt he was asked for the receipt for the kerosene-oil. Putting his hand in his pocket he pulled out a Citizens' ticket. "This isn't the receipt," exclaimed the merchant. "Bless de Lord," was the response, "1 done gone an' voted de kerosene-oil ticket."
